By The Lights Of The River

This home promises a stay close to the all the action, and it more than delivers. It's just a few minutes walk away from the attractions of downtown Denver including bars, galleries, and the banks of the South Platte River, but the convenient location isn't all that it has going for it. It's quite spacious for a studio, with a chic breakfast bar and separate seating area. Plus, there's plenty of communal space to enjoy, and the building's shared amenities make this home an attractive prospect for a short or long term stay. Head up to the rooftop terrace to take in the views, work up a sweat in the gym, deal with last minute meetings in the workspace, or take a dip in the pool after a busy day in the city.
